Understood, I just wanted to make you aware that the full set of issues is not reflected in the currently posted sheets.

Lisa,

Thank you for the head's up. As with everything, we will have to prioritize the new information and handle our response accordingly.

Always my best,

Stef

Subject: FYI on AK summaries

Stef, I thought you should know that the summaries currently posted are missing elements that will be added in the December posting. The additional items will include discrepancies in firebox volumes from test report vs manufacturer materials, owner's manual instructions contradict test method operations, and other major discrepancies between test report and manufacturer materials. Take home, it only gets worse.
